

Sürdürülebilir Bir Demokrasi ve İnsan Hakları Eğitimi İçin Önkoşullar

Muharrem GÜNEŞ

Summary

The aim of this study is to discuss prerequisites of a permanent democracy and human rights within the framework of the state-education-individual relation. It may be said that, to carry out a permanent democracy and human right education, it is necessary to eliminate three main mutually exclusive preconditions and/or 'problematics'. Firstly, the 'partial' characteristic of the state has a special influence, not only on general education policies, but also on the democracy and human right education. Secondly, the irrational unscientific thinking is the main barrier in front of establishing democracy and human rights as way of life. And lastly, it is not possible to talk about democracy and human rights education as long as the understanding of science and education, establishing on the 'preconceptions', is not being fail down.

Key Words: Education, Permanent Democracy and Human Rights Education, Human Rights Education, 'Partial State', 'Pre-conception Education', Human Rights.